New Styles Heralding the Rapid Advance of Fall

During the past week many new things have arrived in the fall styles, especially the more exclusive types of Women's Suits, that are unusual in their very fine quality and smartness of fashion. One might visit our ready-to-wear sections daily and always find new arrivals in the usual Halliburton-Abbott high qualities. Read "A Word About Prices" before passing over it.

Suits of Ultra Smartness

Among the newest models is the Huntingdon type with lengthened coat and narrow, straight lined skirt. Very frequently the coat is embellished with ornaments of silk braiding, embroidery and rich furs.

These beautiful event types have the service and simplicity which mark an "A" suit or dress as a thing apart, something to admire and yet of which much may be expected. They are developments of duveline, alpaca, velour, silverstone, French and manish serges, and point twills, many lined with high grade pussy willow or peach de soie.

Individuals from such cities as Milligan, Marion, Lansing and others will receive their premier showing Monday.

Many, many new Women's Suits.

Misses' Dresses

For those who will soon depart for the eastern colleges as well as for wear right here at home.

At college what one wears often has much to do with the success or failure. This must be on the theory that "like seeks like." Here are frocks for travel to college, for campus wear and for the very many quickly gotten up, informal affairs usual to college life in the new fall styled fashion of tricotelle, jersey, the silk fabrics—peau de soie, tricot, charmeuse and georgette—and exhibiting beautiful workmanship.
